YWCA HEALTH EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Friends of the YWCA Health Education Department are aware that the fall term opened on Monday, October 4th. It is interesting to note that in addition to the usual activities this is a time of "firsts"; for example, Monday schedule calls for a four o'clock class for teen-agers in archery and at seven o'clock, volley ball for adults. Tuesday has "firsts" in that there will be a morning class in slimnastics for women who are occupied in the afternoon and evening, and four o'clock sees a class in Personal Charm which will meet the Girl Scout requirements for the good grooming badge. At six o'clock is a volley ball class which will appeal to teen-agers. It is scheduled at six so that girls may get home in time to do their homework. At seven is the regular adult class in slimnastics.

These are just some of the new activities. Please dial the YWCA, 9-6201, for information on these or any other activities. Miss Alberta Silveira, the Health Education Director will be happy to talk over your interests if you will telephone or call on her at the YWCA.

TEACHING IN COLORADO

Miss Janet Eldridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Eldridge of Church Street, Mattapoisett, is teaching in a small town outside of Denver, Colorado for the winter.

Janet's twin sister, Mrs. Judith Roberts is residing in Anchorage, Alaska with her husband, Ernest, who is stationed there with the army. The Roberts' are the only ones nearby with a scrabble set, so when they are entertained, they are asked to bring along their scrabble game.

The Stackpole family has had a long standing interest in the building of our town. Their home has been a beautiful landmark as familiar to us as the wharf. On our cover, you see the result of a battering that shot water high over the roof of this three story structure. Certainly this building proves the wisdom of building on a base of stone. Sadly, it also testifies to the fact that not even solid rock can remain undamaged against a hurricane.

CENTER SCHOOL NEWS

Cafeteria money for a given week must reach the Center School office prior to noon on the preceding Wednesday. Absentees may bring their money on the first day they return. Bookkeeping and accounting necessitate strict adherence to the preceding policy.

Dexter Eldridge is serving this year as the Center School news reporter.

Six man football practice has started under the direction of Mr. Edward F. Trainor with twenty-six boys answering the call. Plans are being formulated for intermural competition.

FALL PROGRAM FOR CUB SCOUTS PLANNED AT CUB SCOUT PACK COMMITTEE MEETING

At a meeting of the Cub Scout Pack Committee, attended by Raymond Andrews, Robert Crabbe, Harlan Nash, Richard Tooney and Charles C. Smith, the fall program for Cub Scouting was inaugurated. Harlan Nash, who has moved to North Dartmouth where he has been appointed Neighborhood Boy Scout Commissioner, has agreed to serve as adviser to Pack 53. Other appointments made by the committe included Richard Toomey, Cubmaster and Raymond Andrews, Assistant Cubmaster. New applicants for Cub Scout membership may obtain application forms from the Cubmaster, the Assistant Cubmaster or Robert Crabbe, Committee Chairman. Boys who have passed their 8th birthday are welcome to apply during the next two weeks. Additional adult leaders are also sought for the Pack Committee and Den Mothers and those interested may obtain additional information from any member of the committee. The next meeting of the committee will be held at the home of Richard Toomey on North Street on October 13th at 8 o'clock P. M.

SOME THOUGHTS OF MINE NATURE
by Murray Tuttle

I went to ride the other day, not so very far away,
I drove along at easy pace, and gazed around this earthly place
And many things I saw, I'd never seen before Tho many times I'd passed that way; it made me rather sore

To think a human being could be so very blind
To the beauties of all nature, and the way it all is timed.
T'was early in the springtime, when life comes to the wood
And all of natures beauties are blossomed as they should.

I saw the little violets their faces to the sky
And the weeping pussy willow looking pretty shy.
The smell of the pines was pleasant and my mind began to roam
And I thought of the many pleasures I'd had beneath their dome.

The maple buds were red as fire; soon the leaves would break their shell
And the may flowers cast their beauty, where ever they did dwell.
And the dandelion sitting there as if it did belong.
Then a robin lit upon a twig and piped his little song.

A rabbit ran across the road as fast as he could go.
He was only a little feller; he'd likely seen a foe.

LIGHT AND BRAKE INSPECTION TIME

The smell of the wood was in the air as I gazed upon the scene
And a little further on, I saw the meadows nice and green.

Away off on the other side, I heard a lusty
crow,
A pair of pheasants showed themselves, their plumage all aglow.
Then all at once a woodchuck popped his head
out of the ground
And then sat on his haunches and never made a sound.

A big gray squirrel ran along the wall, as supple as could be Then sat up quick and looked around, then scampered up a tree.
And then a little chipmonk let out an awful squawk
For he was in the clutches of a great big hungry hawk.

A little further on I saw a dandy pair of deer,
But they were quite uneasy a something they did fear.
And then a man came into view; a shotgun
on his arm.
A crow flew high up overhead, and cawed a loud alarm.

Then all of natures little folks did scamper
right away,
They all knew if they didn't, they'd ner
see another day.

Nature from pg.6

When I came home and thought it out, of how this world was run
I wondered why men wanted to kill each other with a gun.

We often miss the beauties, upon this earthly sphere,
We only have a little while, to linger on right here.
Why can't we be contented to enjoy this land of ours
Instead of always fighting for the things that are not ours?

Some day we'll wake up feeling we've wasted
most of life
By being so insistent that the world be full of strife
And man may see the blessings the Creator
handed him
And make a world of happiness, instead of one of sin.

Fair and Clear

Wal sir there was a mighty clangin and a bangin as the pirates fit amongst themselves in the smoke not bein able to tell thet thar was no crew on board and since I didn't have nary a cutlass to join the fun I sliped into the nearest coil of line to wait out the battle at least thet was what I was hopin to do but all at once a clumbsy lummox as big as a house tripped over my line and landed in on top of me Wal apparently he h'd been feelin his way up the deck just alookin for somebody to carve up because he seemed almighty overjoyed to find me I took off like a hen on a hot griddle with this feller right at my dad blamed heels and it was a good thing that my hair h'd grownd back good and long cause at every swing of his cutlass he nicked off about a half inch of my hair from which I figgured thet it must be sharp and I didn't dilly dally let me tell you when we fechted up at the fan tail I h'd beat all records but still my hair was showerin out in all dirrections so up the fore top line I went like a monkey on a string and so help me thet critter behind me could climb like greased lightnin and when he got me trapped out on the yard arm I figgured thet this was the end of Exra Tweedle Wal by this time he had trimmed me down to a mighty fetchin crew cut and the next swing
